Our team assembled four legs and actuated one. Walking control is in development with the lead programmer